

Biography

Charles Liu, PhD

Quantitative Researcher

Charles joined Man Numeric ('Numeric') in 2016 as a quantitative researcher and a member of the Strategic Alpha Research team.

Prior to joining Numeric, Charles was a doctoral student at New York University Stern School of Business. During his graduate studies, he interned at Goldman Sachs (Asia) as an equity research analyst.

Charles received a doctorate degree in quantitative marketing from New York University and a master's degree in system engineering from University of Pennsylvania.